THE ETHICS OF THE COSMOS

P R E A M B L E

The prophets and founders of all the world's religions proclaimed the same truth: the Universe, everything living and existing in it including humans, everything is an act of creation – a manifestation of Divine Love. And love is the basis of Morality. Love is at the core of humanness. Only Love makes people human. Therefore, the relationship of people to each other (and to animals) and to the world and to the universe itself around them must be based on Love.

In modern society, the Intelligent Powers of the Universe seek to convey these simple truths to people. From the information received from the representatives of the Intelligent Powers of the Cosmos, it follows that Humanity is not alone in the Universe. The Universe, as the materialization of Divine Love, is literally filled with life. There are many humanoid civilizations in it, Humanity among them.

These civilizations are a single friendly family that actively participates in the evolution of the Universe. Every civilization has the possibility to develop and improve, and at the same time carries a unique mission.

The level of development of each civilization is determined by the level of its morality, that is, it depends on the level of mastery and manifestation of Divine Love by that civilization. The higher this level, the more developed the civilization is and the more extensive and healthy its habitat – as well as the greater its influence on the processes in the Universe and, of course, the higher the degree of its responsibility.

At the present time, except for certain individuals, Humanity does not interact directly with other civilizations. This is due to the fact that the human community has sunk into egocentrism, with subsequent moral degradation, and as a result has lost the ability of such communication. When humanity became infected by greed and selfishness, people gradually turned from creative and constructive beings into malicious and aggressive egoists, not only devouring themselves, but also destroying their own home – the planet Earth.

Figuratively, what happened to Humanity can be described as follows: at one fateful moment, Humanity, which was previously in a bright, clean, joyful and happy space surrounded by a family of friendly beings, plunged into a dark, dirty, musty, and hostile dungeon, which now only occasionally gets rays of bright light and where only sometimes voices are dimly heard from creatures on the surface.

In this dungeon, Humanity feels alone, surrounded by hostile forces, and therefore even the friendly voices that sometimes reach it from the light space are either not perceived at all, or are understood in a distorted, deformed way. And this is despite the fact that the creatures on the surface are literally shouting, addressing Humanity: “What are you doing in the dungeon? You are members of our friendly family! Come back soon, we are ready to help you! Come on, come on, come back quickly before it’s too late!”

Despite the fact that people are in the gloom of a hostile dungeon, in the depths of their memories and souls they remember, feel that this is not the place where they should be, that in fact they were born for a joyful and happy life, that they are also residents of the vast Universe, and able to travel through it.

This explains the desire of Humankind to go beyond the Earth into the Solar System and universe peacefully, without weapons, and move on. However, in the current state of Humanity, it is virtually impossible to do this.

In order to realize this bright dream, Humanity must return to the fulfillment of its Mission, that is, to the fulfillment of its Divine Purpose. And this Purpose is truly unique. It is to unlock the potential inherent in the physical body and consciousness. However, in order to unlock this potential, Humans need to transform their egoism, and through the energies released in this process, increase the level of their morality.

The increase and strengthening of morality will lead to a change in perception, to the appearance of new awareness and new Knowledge in people, both about themselves and about the world around them. There will be knowledge about new sources of energy, about other ways of moving in space, about everything that Humanity needs for its improvement and survival.

Along the way, Humanity will regain its evolutionary status and its place among the family of friendly civilizations. Humanity will put itself in order – put the Earth, its soil, water, air and space environment in order. And only then will Humanity return to its joyful, happy existence.

The time for change has come! There is a sense of urgency. More and more people feel it and understand it. Moreover, events on Earth are pushing Humanity to make the right decisions – to return to morality, restore the human status and once again become members of a friendly Galactic family. The friends of Humanity in the Galaxy are looking forward to it.

The entire Universe is looking forward to it!
